Thank you for seeking information on professional development opportunities. In May 2009, the Center for Leadership & Organizational Excellence was created by Human Resources to establish new and innovative approaches for professional development at NC A&T. After an extensive assessment and data gathering process, new programming and services are being proposed and developed. Please continue to check back to this site and look for University announcements on the status of new programs, classes and services. Thank you for your interest and your patience as we make this transition.
